

NW Flyers Track Club Cancellation Policy

The Northwest Flyers Track Club recognizes that it is not possible for every family make the required minimum commitment to be a team member. It takes a special dedication to “track” to be a “track athlete”. Track is hard work and requires considerable concentration, effort and time. It also offers a greater reward than can be found in any other organized athletic activity.

The Northwest Flyers conducts a mandatory 90 minute parent orientation (“breakfast” or “evening”) session prior to registration to review the practice schedules, locations, competitions, and minimum commitment level to participate. For those who can’t attend, the information presented is summarized and posted on the team Website. The minimum level of commitment is specified in the registration form which must be signed by the athlete and the parent. Therefore parents can make an informed decision as to the requirements of the program before joining.

The Northwest Flyers is an all-volunteer / non-profit youth sports program. When a new member joins, the team makes financial commitments on your behalf such as purchasing the required USATF athlete membership card, liability insurance, practice site insurance, ordering uniforms / equipment, practice facilities rent, and more.
